The authors thank the anonymous peers for his/her time and discussion towards our publication. We would like to give some answer respectively.

We agree that more detailed description about electronic should be added. As the work progresses, those details have been provided and will be updated on https://github.com/adienakhmad/Magnetogama. The comparison between two magnetometers (Magnetogama and PPM), in this case, is the alternative solution to calibrate their response.

Grammar correction also has been taken into account.
