Interactive comment on "About the Possibility of Identification of Hydrocarbon Deposits with the Help of NMR" by P. Ivashchenko et al.

A. Narimanov

akifnar1@gmail.com

How to take into account the fact that the Earth's magnetic field varies from the equator to the pole, because various points of measurement the magnetic field intensity is different?