

Dear editor:

The idea of this manuscript is original and unique, and it describes the technical realization of a new centralized data acquisition system for geophysical exploration. The technique mentioned is very novel. Through the authors' revisions, the expression is more fluent and understandable. The paper is probably publishable. I recommend the acceptance of the paper as it is.